Accomplished and inspiring conductor/administrator/performer/educator who collaborates productively with musicians from all walks of life. Passionate about education and sharing orchestral music with newcomers. Experience conducting standard symphonic, operatic, musical theatre, choral, ballet and pops repertoire, including lesser known works. Experience collaborating with vocal and instrumental soloists.

Converts crisis into opportunity: during the pandemic, created a new community orchestra with Nashville musicians, which provided live orchestral music experiences for musicians and audiences alike. Cultivates relationships with local news media and concert venues. Seasoned leader of both musical and administrative tasks.

As string player, knowledgeable of orchestra operations, performance practice, repertoire and union work environment parameters. Skillfully balances structure and order with genuine warmth and humor during rehearsals; able to work under pressure with limited rehearsal time while still producing excellent results. 2022 and 2023 American Prize in Conducting finalist and American Prize in Orchestral Performance finalist.
